

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

Since Indiana's Telephone Privacy law has been in affect,
I feel we have more control over the phone lines we are paying for. Before the law was in affect, we received anywhere from 1 to 18 calls from solicitors each DAY in addition to calls from friends and family and necessary business. Now we receive no calls from solicitors, and it has definitely improved the time we have for phone use.
